

FREE!

HAPPY NEWS

USA

World's first 3D-printed rocket launches

The world's first 3D-printed rocket created using the world's largest 3D printer lifted off from Florida, USA. Although it failed to get high enough to circle the earth, which is called orbiting, it's still a huge milestone for technology. It proved it was durable enough to survive blast off without breaking apart!

Your weekly round up of feel-good news from around the world!

WORLDWIDE

First-ever International Day of Zero Waste

March 30th will mark the first-ever International Day of Zero Waste. The day aims to raise awareness about how zero waste will help the world and how the rubbish we create contributes to things like climate change and pollution.

USA

Could you be a professional bear hugger?

If you fancy working with very cute but dangerous animals when you grow up, then why not become a professional bear hugger? The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish put out an ad this week looking for professional bear huggers to join their team and yes - you get to cuddle cute little bear cubs!

UK

Take part in the Great British Spring Clean!

The Great British Spring Clean and the Great Big School Clean are underway! From 17th March to 2nd April, lots of people get out into their local communities to make them cleaner, tidier places.

WORLDWIDE

Beware of Pranks! It's almost April Fools Day

Saturday is April 1st, or, as it is commonly known, Fools' Day. The holiday is celebrated by playing lighthearted pranks on family and friends. April Fools has been celebrated for several centuries by different cultures, though its exact origins remain a mystery.

